Congress some significant powers in foreign affairs and over the military. In order to run for President you must be 35 years of age, a resident "within the United States" for 14 years, and a "natural born Citizen,". If something were to happen to the President the Vice President would step in.