Several different theories have been offered to explain Childhood Amnesia. Some proposals relate CA to changes in the child’s neurological make-up, while others are concerned with the development of the child’s language. Critically evaluate both approaches.