and he was renamed Brenda.

Results: At first, money was heavily involved in the case. She claimed Brenda was adapting well.
- She enjoyed playing with dolls.
- Problems occurred when she reached puberty,
- Needed hormones for female shape
- Masculine appearance, mannerisms.
- She felt like a man inside.
- At 13, her parents told the truth, she was relieved.
- She renamed herself David and eventually had a penis reconstructed.

Conclusion: The effect of his chromosomes outweighed socialisation.
- Nature over nurture.

Limitations: Small samples
- Impossible to control variables
- Researchers may stop being objective.

Applications of Research
- Equal opportunities in education.
- Equal opportunities in work.