Overall, I think the main reason for Khrushchev putting nuclear missiles on Cuba was because he wanted to protect its Communist ally. I think this because having a strong ally in the Western hemisphere would give him a good base to advance his Communist rule if that is what he wanted. Not only did it choose to become Communist without an invasion, but it was also Communist right under the nose of America, a capitalist state.