Chapter 6

Contemporary Trends and Future Directions

- Areas of research focus
  - How positive emotions affect stress responses
  - Role of psychological factors on disease progression and prevention
  - Examining why gender and racial differences in stress response exist

Review

1) What do we know about disorders caused by exposure to specific stressors or traumatic events?

2) In what ways can stress affect our physical health?