• They research into theoretical issues concerning learning, measurements and motivation of students. They also prepare standardized tests for the organization.

• They also provide the teachers with valuable information on how to cope with classroom problems. The educational and school psychologists form 5.5%.
10. Experimental Psychologists

• They basically conduct experiments to provide answers to how variables respond to various stimuli.

• They specialize in brain processes like nervous system, sensation and perceptions, learning, motivation and emotions.

• They give psychologists the precise methods of measurements and control of behaviour.