• Helps to distinguish from malingering.
• Increase due to website and availability of information as these sites are usually not precise and are open to interpretation.