Consumer Products
Your business can offer services that are either tangible or intangible. Some businesses offer only pure service products, for example insurance. Other businesses sell a tangible product, for example a Café. A business can also offer a combination service where you sell paint and you also have a team that paints.

(Nieuwenhuizen 2011:122)
Factors affecting the optional product/service mix