Slim was a tall man, standing in the doorway. He looked after himself, taking pride in his appearance. He was skilled in controlling a team of horses, leading worker in the bunk house. He was capable of in control of a team of horses, without touching the mule. He was an alpha-male of 1930s patriarchal society, a desirable leading worker in the bunk house. He was capable of controlling a team of horses, without touching the mule. He was an alpha-male of 1930s patriarchal society, a desirable leading worker in the bunk house.

He was capable of in control of a team of horses, without touching the mule. He was an alpha-male of 1930s patriarchal society, a desirable leading worker in the bunk house. He was capable of controlling a team of horses, without touching the mule. He was an alpha-male of 1930s patriarchal society, a desirable leading worker in the bunk house.

He was capable of in control of a team of horses, without touching the mule. He was an alpha-male of 1930s patriarchal society, a desirable leading worker in the bunk house. He was capable of controlling a team of horses, without touching the mule. He was an alpha-male of 1930s patriarchal society, a desirable leading worker in the bunk house.

He was capable of in control of a team of horses, without touching the mule. He was an alpha-male of 1930s patriarchal society, a desirable leading worker in the bunk house. He was capable of controlling a team of horses, without touching the mule. He was an alpha-male of 1930s patriarchal society, a desirable leading worker in the bunk house.

He was capable of in control of a team of horses, without touching the mule. He was an alpha-male of 1930s patriarchal society, a desirable leading worker in the bunk house. He was capable of controlling a team of horses, without touching the mule. He was an alpha-male of 1930s patriarchal society, a desirable leading worker in the bunk house.