(6) What kind of organization is the Hoover Institute? Can you categorize it politically? (you may have to Google this to get some ideas).

The Hoover Institute is a public policy think tank. I would say it can be categorized politically, the director is former Secretary of State & National Security Advisor, Condellizza Rice.

(7) At the end of his piece, Ferguson refers to the year 2059. What is his expectation of the world in 39 years?

In 39 years, Ferguson believes that things will be the same. He believes that everything will be okay and stuff that Greta and scientists say needs to happen won’t because it is not necessary. However, with the way the world looks now, I think that even 2050 is a reach. In 2020 alone we’ve had many bad wildfires, a pandemic that is being treated as a joke, and more.

(8) Final verdict? Thunberg or Ferguson?

Overall, Thunberg is correct and I agree with her. Ferguson accepts climate change but also doesn’t and says everything is being blown out of proportion. We’ve seen the effects of climate change for years already, and it’s not getting any better.
