• Lacks close friends or confidants other than first-degree relatives.
• Appears indifferent to the praise or criticism of others.
• Shows emotional coldness, detachment, or flattened affectivity.
• Does not occur exclusively during the course of schizophrenia, a bipolar disorder or depressive disorder with psychotic features, another psychotic disorder, or autism spectrum disorder and is not attributable to the physiological effects of another medical condition.

schizotypal personality disorder
• A pervasive pattern of social and interpersonal deficits marked by acute discomfort with, and reduced capacity for, close relationships as well as by cognitive or perceptual distortions and eccentricities of behaviour, beginning by early adulthood and present in a variety of contexts, as indicated by five (or more) of the following:
  • – Ideas of reference (excluding delusions of reference).
  • – Odd beliefs or magical thinking that influences behaviour and is inconsistent with subcultural norms (e.g., superstitiousness, belief in clairvoyance, telepathy, or “sixth sense”; in children and adolescents, bizarre fantasies or preoccupations).
  • – Unusual perceptual experiences, including bodily illusions.
  • – Odd thinking and speech (e.g., vague, circumstantial, metaphorical, over-elaborate, or stereotyped).
  • – Suspiciousness or paranoid ideation.
  • – Inappropriate or constricted affect.
  • – Behaviour or appearance that is odd, eccentric, or peculiar.
  • – Lack of close friends or confidants other than first-degree relatives.
  • – Excessive social anxiety that does not diminish with familiarity and tends to be associated with paranoid fears rather than negative judgments about self.
• Does not occur exclusively during the course of schizophrenia, a bipolar disorder or depressive disorder with psychotic features, another psychotic disorder, or autism spectrum disorder.
