1A.1 Identify how promoting anti – discriminatory practise can support service users.

• Anti – discriminatory is when a professional worker treat their patient fairly for example culture, religion and race, what the patient needs and the level of care. Service users should respect even if their religion, age, gender, choice of sexuality is different. Every service user should be treated equally. They should not be judged and professional workers should not make assumptions.