- 1. Ancient Mediterranean:
  - 1.1. The Birth of Civilizations: Archeology helps us learn about what happened before the age of writing.
  - 1.1.2. Study: Prehistory: The prehistoric era = the time period before the invention of writing.
  - 1.1.4. Study: Where Did the Earliest Humans Live?: Talks about evolution (which, as it happens, I do not believe in). The prehistoric era, which is also called the Stone Age, is divided into three periods: the Paleolithic, the Mesolithic, and the Neolithic. It claims that humans are now in their fourth stage of existence.
  - 1.1.5. Study: The Rise of Civilizations: The Neolithic Revolution introduced domestication of animals and plants, in addition to settled villages, as directly opposed to the nomadic hunters of the Paleolithic period. Food surplus allowed for professions other than farming, like pottery.
