• Colour Perception:
  - We use our native language to classify and to remember colours. Different languages may vary in where they put the separation between blue and green or they may not have separate words for these colours.