- He was hanged for treason and his body was burned.

The Southampton Plot 1415

- Nobles led by Richard, Earl of Cambridge.
- The plotters were motivated by anger, frustration and greed.
- Cambridge was unlike by his lack of wealth and status.
- Henry, Lord Scrope of Masham and Sir Thomas Grey were aggrieved (issues that haven’t been solved) because Henry V appeared unwilling to reward them for their service.
- The plot consisted of a plan to removed Henry V and replace him with his brother-in-law Edmund Mortimer, Earl of March.
- Cambridge had originally planned to take Mortimer to Wales to start a rebellion there.
- This changed and it was decided to murder the king and his brothers at Southampton.
- The plan failed when Mortimer lost his nerve and told the king about the conspiracy to assassinate him.
- Cambridge and his two henchmen were arrested, tried for treason and executed.
- Mortimer was spared and eventually pardoned by the king.
