Path of Movement

30th August 2005 at 10am Katrina is downgraded to tropical depression with wind speeds dropping to 35mph

After 4 days (29th August) Katrina makes landfall at Grand Isle, at 10am with wind speeds of up to 125mph

Katrina is just east of Jackson at 4pm on the 29th August with wind speeds of 75mph

25th August crossed Miami, at 5am with wind speeds reaching 50mph

Wind speeds of 35mph

Formed 200 miles southeast of Bahamas on 23rd August 2005 at 5pm
Management: During

- People sought refuge in Superdome stadium, conditions quickly became unhygienic and a shortage of basic supplies such as food and water resulted in high tensions. Looting became a problem during this time.

- News coverage informing residence how to evacuate and what to do using evacuation plans in place from the government.