- Land Warfare
  - North Korea’s advantage in tanks at beginning of war greatly assisted in its initial invasion.
  - Once this advantage was neutralized, tanks had limited usefulness due to the mountainous terrain.
  - Decisive offensive movements of 1950 were replaced with stalemate and trench warfare starting in 1951.

- Naval Warfare
  - Of limited importance due to small sizes of the North and South Korean navies.
  - UN blockade of North Korea also had limited impact due to its land border with China

- Aerial Warfare
  - First large scale use of helicopter, primarily for medical evacuation.
  - First large scale use of jet engines, resulting in faster and more fuel efficient fighter planes.
  - Continued use of Vietnam era bombers.
