Corticosteroids: One multicenter cohort study of patients with COPD conducted in the U.S. Veterans Administration Health System demonstrated a dose-dependent decrease in the risk for lung cancer associated with use of inhaled corticosteroids (Maurer et al. 2008)