Bacterial culture and Identification - Basics

All bacteria can be cultured and identified by using various tests and using certain growth medium

Bacteria can be cultured in two ways: a petri dish using agar gel or in suspension using a liquid media.

shown in the diagram on the right.

Flame after every inoculation site