[redacted]
P. 1

EQ: What are the three treasury notes & bonds and what's a money market fund?

What is a Money Market Fund?	Deposits a minimum specified sum for a fixed period at a fixed interest
What is a mutual fund?	· Group investing in stocks/bonds · The money of many investors primarily for the purchase of stocks and bonds
What is a Treasury Bill (T-Bill)?	A short term security sold to finance the cost of running the government.
What is a Treasury Note?	A U.S. government interest-bearing security that is available in amounts of $1,000+, generally mature in 1-10 yrs. *
What is a Treasury Bond?	An interest-bearing U.S. government security that is available in $1,000 to $1M, matures 10-30 yrs.

Summary: The three treasury notes & bonds are: Treasury bill, Treasury note, and Treasury bond. A treasury bill is sold to finance the cost of running the government. A Treasury Note is a US government interest-bearing security that's available in amounts of $1000+. A Money Market Fund deposits a minimum specified sum for a fixed period at a fixed interest.