

Life after death

And then that was all I can remember and then now I'm here.

I'm dead.

I'm a soul in the air nobody can see.

I want my life back. I want everything to back in place
Then afterwards, my boyfriend
Vince talk to my mom and dad saying that he had to leave.

Life after death

I was really in pain. I don't understand. Why did they do this to me? They cheated on me.

Those people I've been trusting all of my life.

Was the people who had never been real to me all this time?

After they kissed, my boyfriend

Vince told Kat that it wouldn't took so long before I die. And they could be together, Dad told her that he wants an annulment.

I supposed, my life was perfect, but I understood that I lived in vain all of my life.

I lived in lie for almost 20 years. Those happy moments I had were a complete total lie.

“Why did you die?”

“Car accident.” I said.

“Isn’t it painful”... She whispered.

“Yes. It is.” I said

Then suddenly, I felt uneasy. I think I wanted to cry. But I can’t...

“Do you know what the most painful death is? It’s not the physical death. It’s the nonphysical death. It’s the painful thing inside of you that could

But my heart melted. Right then, I am certain. I will go back home.

I was right in front of our house, and my feet are shuddering. I couldn't move my hands to knock at our door step,

Then surprisingly, my mom quickly opened the door for me.

Life after death

“Let get inside your Dad’s waiting for you.” And I followed mom.

And right then I saw dad. He was lying on the bed... He tried his best to smile at me even I knew that he couldn’t.

But I knew he was trying really hard to hide the pain.

He still loved you. Kat went abroad and married another man.
Sometimes people can do wrong
but you have to forgive them."

Mom's words kept on up roaring on my mind from time to time.
Mom was right. Forgiving was damn real hard. But I have to give it shot again. Give it a try.

If it doesn't work out then it's fine.
But there's no one to be blame if I will never attempt.

Life after death

I saw a girl here before. And I had a few conversations with her... perhaps you know her.

The woman then looked so stunned after hearing what I said.

Then she sat beside me and spoke.
