

Masterson, K. (1995). With a simple tune, students improve in school. Online. Available: <http://www.edu-cyberpg.com/culdesac/ReadingModule/Munro.html>.

McCracken, R. A. & McCracken, M. J. (1986). Stories, songs, and poetry to teach reading and writing: Literacy through language. (ERIC document reproduction service No. ED276987)

Opitz, M. F. (2000). Rhymes & reasons: Literature and language play for phonological awareness. (ERIC document reproduction service No. ED437669)

Owens, N. & Yoder, J. (1999). Integrating literacy with music, art, and physical education. Target action research 1998-99. (ERIC document reproduction service No. ED429280)

Piazza, C. A. (1999). Multiple forms of literacy: Teaching literacy and the arts. (ERIC document reproduction service No. ED424569)

Renegar, S. L. (1986). Reading and music: Take note. (ERIC document reproduction service No. 315735)

Ridout, S. R. (1990). Ridout, S. R. (1990). Harmony in the classroom: Using songs to teach reading and writing. (ERIC document reproduction service No. ED324637). (ERIC document reproduction service No. ED324637)

Routier, W. J. (2003). Read me a song: Teaching reading using picture book songs. (ERIC document reproduction service No. ED479645)

Smith, J. A. (2000). Singing and songwriting support early literacy instruction. Reading Teacher 53: 8, 146-149.

Turner-Bisset, R. (2001). Serving-maids and literacy: An approach to teaching literacy through history and music. Reading 35: 1, 27-31.

Woods, C. S. (2003). Phonemic awareness: A crucial bridge to reading. Montessori Life 15: 2, 37-39.