

PRECIPITATION

The weather in Paris comes with precipitation throughout all periods. The weather in the spring in Paris encounters less influence of rainfall. The other seasons are generally comparable as far as goes the precipitation. The rainfall in Paris is characterised by sudden showers, that will generally pass as quick as they arrived. The weather in the winter in Paris is mild, so the city of Paris encounters hardly any inconvenience of snowfall. Though a couple of days every year the city of Paris is covered in a beautiful white blanket.
