

Education plays a very important role in our lives. The primary goal of education is to help everyone to have a privileged position in society. Education is also a way to help people improve their knowledge and experience. An uneducated person can not read and write, Which he can acquire through books and other means. In other words, he is isolated from the outside world. In contrast, the educated man lives in a room with all its windows open to the outside world. Therefore, good education determines the future of the individual and society.

Education is important for training the human mind. It helps the mind to distinguish between right and wrong, decision making, etc. It not only teaches people how to answer the exam, it is an important factor in developing the mind.

Education will enhance our positive outlook and confidence in ourselves, and education will lead us to rely on ourselves, which makes us think we are ready to face the world. Without enough education and knowledge, people will not participate in any discussions such as collective discussion at school. Their views to everyone.

Education is important because it provides us with all that is necessary to achieve our dreams. It opens the door to wonderful work opportunities. It helps us to develop our professional life. Every employer today needs to have a highly educated staff, so education becomes an important criterion for employment in any sector. Business sectors.

Education makes a great contribution to our lives by making us responsible citizens. We recognize our history and culture through education. Education also helps to improve the values of citizenship that a person has. It opens our mind and expands our horizons. With the help of education, one can realize the duties and responsibilities assumed to be carried out by the citizen and understood deeply, so can not deny the fact that the educated person is a better citizen.

Education is of great importance to children. It aims at correcting attitudes that children have developed wrongly. Sometimes the child may absorb a range of incorrect attitudes and beliefs. The function of education is to see that unfounded beliefs, ideas and loyalties are not And removed from the child's mind.

A country with a strong educational system can develop better in the future. Improving the learning of citizens is very important in developing the country because their attitude towards a problem can affect the development of the country. Are able to carry out more effective tasks that require literacy and critical thinking. Many countries have therefore focused on developing an education system capable of producing workers capable of working in new industries, such as those in the fields of technology and science