

polytene chromosome morphology would be achieved for the cells that received the heat shock. This hypothesis was by and large evidenced in this experiment.

Results

