

Football have no identical components therefore, the measuring device will detect no transfer effect.

4- Bilateral Transfer of Learning:

Practicing an activity with a particular part of the body usually facilitates performance of the same activity with another part of body.

Example:

Positive transference is between the symmetrical parts of body. from eye to eye, hand to hand, foot to foot.

