

THE FOX AND THE GRAPES

A vixen lived in a jungle. She was very clever. One day, she could not find anything to eat. She felt very hungry. She wandered about in the jungle in search of food. At last, she reached a garden. There she saw a green grapevine. The ripe black grapes were hanging from it. They looked so juicy and sweet. But, unfortunately they were hanging a bit high. They were out of her reach. She tried her best to get at them but could not. She jumped and jumped but in vain. At last, she realized that the grapes were too high to be got at. She was disappointed. She cast a last longing look at them and went her way saying. "The grapes are sour"

Possible Morals:

1. Grapes are sour'
2. People pretend to dislike when they cannot get