

education, i think we will have to enforce something that whoever is doing this, either permanently close it. if someone gets caught who is managing someone else 's money, then a strict action should be taken.

the only person who cares about your money is you. no one can guarantee that you will get a profit. you give the retail of your bank account so that when the money is transferred from the bank to the broker, he will also do the same. don't work with any of these people until you know what their license is. people say that the regulations of sebi are not that good, sebi does not give license, there are a lot of restrictions. and any investor whose money will be spent, you will get his complaint, but you will also get his curse. to spend someone 's money is the worst thing you can do for any person.
