

Ep : 1 | What is Philosophy? Dr. Vikas Divyakirti

Vikas Divyakirti

Poet Sarveshwar Dayal Saxena in modern Hindi literature was a very famous poet. He has a poem that after getting shot Ram emerged from the mouth of one, and Mao came out of the other's mouth. And the potato came out. The meaning of this poem is that whether you want Ram, that is, the supporter of religion Or. you are a supporter of Mao i. e. Leftist Marxism. The first condition of being a supporter or an opponent is that the stomach should be Full. I will explain to you the event of history where this happened? Everything starts with philosophy. Science commerce art that Everything becomes philosophy in the end. After MPhil, if you go further then PhD Doctorate in philosophy means after reading every subject. In Hindi and English that's the most common word we have is Darshan. Indian tradition coined the word darshan and the root word of the word is 'drishya' and the process of seeing so what does it mean to see the act of seeing. If you see now, we are also there, you are seeing me at this time but I would not say that you are a philosopher.

When we study philosophy we will go into some more depth. though never go as deep as MA degree. in UPSC exam. We will only understand philosophy as much as a common man can understand. And he get a chance to improve his life. The main purpose of this channel which I told you is that The level of discussions should be better. Jain philosophy said on the level of knowledge in Syadvad which nowadays we call artificial intelligence and if its very deep base has to be strong. Deep people can read what's hidden among them. deep people don't say by saying. If they do not say anything, that also signify they are saying something. They read the silence too This is called Gyanchakshu Pragya chakshu. Dr. DV a good philosopher originated in america in the 20th century He said that education is not the preparation for life and Preparation of Life. Education is the Life in Itself and knowledge is life. To be a sensible person is to be persistent in the process of becoming.

Without respecting the science In today's time we can not understand philosophy. The things which science has proved or almost proved. If you take them along with you, then you will be able to understand your time properly. Otherwise we will become a new kind of superstitious people. All we have to do is fill it with curiosity. 450 million years ago The existence of this world began. I am speaking 450 crores, not 450 Crores. According to today's belief, 370 crore years ago from today life was seen for the first time. Life was not there. There was not even a plant. had nothing. Today people have more faith in theory. Creationism as a Philosophy. We have evolved from where will we evolve 10 million years ago today which were primates. The first 2,99,000 of the 3 lakh years of our human civilization or at least not 94,000-95,000 years of philosophy, no science. If I assume that 1 it's been a million years, at least 2.5 million years have been in dead condition.

Two legged creatures first time in the world, two legs. Changed from four legs to two legs is called bipedalism. The biggest turning point in the history of mankind is free two hands. These two hands gave the whole culture, The entire industry, the entire civilization was destroyed. Had it not been for these two hands, it would still be running. The cognitive revolution took place in this world of Homo Sapiens 75,000
