

Coming up with a step by step solution is one module of the problem solving. The solution says whatever the instance you are right, right now or right now. Whatever the instance is that you're in , just perform these , these steps. And in the next video we will see how to actually how to eliminate the need of having English with us. The problem here we are discussing is is computing PE of different employees of some company. And the procedure of computing pay of all employees is stays the same. If there are several employees in a company and having each employee has name, phone number , email and all the credentials. And then let 's say the pay is computed on hourly basis. And each employee can have a different hourly rate depending upon the capacity of the employee or the or the job nature the employee is doing and so on.
