

- CARE (an NGO), has worked in Honduras since 1954, by initially providing emergency assistance to hurricane victims.
- Their work began with food distribution programs and CARE Honduras' current projects include agroforestry and maternal health. CARE often works within small communities, which is good because the needs of people in urban areas are very different to those in rural areas.
- CARE International is funded by individual donations, corporations, the EU and countries' governments (including the UK).
