

2- The cylinders are twisted around each other to form the microtubules.

Microtubules function:

1- help the cell keep its shape.

2- They hold organelles in place and allow them to move around the cell.

3- they form the mitotic spindle during cell division.