

lumen of airways, allowing for better intake of air. A child in respiratory distress is unable to take slow, deep breaths. The child should not be offered fluids because this is an aspiration risk and analgesics will not reduce swelling.

Preview from Notesale.co.uk
Page 7 of 7