

Different attitudes to infertility treatments among Christians

The Catholic view

- IVF involves fertilising many eggs, this means that some are thrown away at the end of the treatment – seen as type of abortion.
- Male masturbation is a sin.
- God intended procreation to be a part of sex.

Other Christian Churches

- Marriage is to have children, so infertility treatments must be good.
- Baby will be biological offspring of parents.
- The discarded embryos are not fetuses and so life is not being taken.

All Christians would encourage childless Christians to adopt.
