

TIS PITY QUOTES:

- 'take up these slaughtered bodies, see them buried; and all the gold and jewels, or whatsoever, confiscate by the canons of the church, we seize upon the popes proper use.'
- 'for this offence I here receive Grimaldi into his holiness' protection.'
- 'when cardinals think murder's not amiss'
- 'o that it were not in religion sin to make our love a god and worship it.'
- 'thy sensual rage of blood hath made my youth a scorn to men and angels.'
- 'tis as unmanlike to bear extremities, as godlike to forgive.'
- 'since we must part, go thou in white in thy soul to fill a throne of innocence and sanctity in heaven.'
- 'I'm sorry I have heard it.'
- 'must not stay to know thy fall.'
- 'young man'
- 'reasoned against the reasons of my love.'
- 'I hate thee and thy lust.'
- 'you will wish each kiss your brother gave has been a daggers point.'
- 'let him go and glut himself in his own destruction.'
- 'I know a little vasques'
- gag her instantly, and put out her eyes.'
- if a young wench feel fit let her take anybody.'
- is that such a matter for a young woman of her years to be blamed for?'
- 'nay what a paradise of joy you have passed under!'
- soranzo, thou knowst this
- may justly blame us yet, but when they know our love, that love will wipe away that rigour.'
- 'beheld the rape of act and beauty which I have acted.'
- 'one soul, one flesh, one love, one heart, one all?'
- 'tis not, I know my lust, but 'tis my fate that leads me on.'
- 'die by me, by my hand. Revenge it mine.'
- 'o Giovanni hast thou left the schools of knowledge to converse with lust and death?'
- 'I came to feast too, but I digged for food in a much richer mine than gold.'
- 'must I not do what all else men must – love?'
- 'double soul'/'a pair of souls'
- 'with me they shall all perish.'
- 'loves measure is extreme, the comfort pain, the life unrest and the reward disdain.'
- 'tis pity she's whore.'
- 'my ever dearest lord and master.'
- 'love me or kill me'
- 'I fear the event; that marriage is seldom good, when the bride-banquet begins in blood.'
- 'I'll rip up thy heart and find it here.'
- 'I would not have her marry wealth, but love.'
- 'heres my brest, strike him. Rip up my bosom.'
- 'one soul, one flesh, one love, one heart, one all?'
- 'I would not for my wealth my daughters love should cause the spilling of one drop of blood.'
- 'you'll say you love me.'
- 'this mot's precious jewel, such a prize.'